Q1 2026 Fund Commentary

Commentary and opinions are provided by Putnam Investments.

Market commentary

Growth stocks were weak during the first quarter of 2026, as elevated valuations and high expectations met rising interest rates and investor concerns about the near-term returns on heavy artificial intelligence spending. Information technology stocks underperformed, leading the broader decline in growth-oriented names. Geopolitical uncertainty and persistent inflation drove a rotation into more cyclical and value-oriented sectors during the quarter.

Performance

Stock selection within the industrials, information technology and communication services sectors contributed to performance during the quarter. GE Vernova LLC, Lam Research Corp. and Caterpillar Inc. contributed to performance.

Selection within the health care and real estate sectors detracted from performance during the quarter. Guidewire Software Inc., Boston Scientific Corp. and Capital One Financial Corp., an out-of-benchmark allocation, detracted from performance during the quarter.

Portfolio activity

The sub-advisor added Costco Wholesale Corporation and Quanta Services Inc. during the quarter. The sub-advisor also increased Meta Platforms Inc.

The sub-advisor sold Guidewire Software Inc. and AppLovin Corporation. The sub-advisor also reduced Nasdaq Inc. and Boston Scientific Corporation.

Outlook

The sub-advisor anticipates some degree of broadening leadership in the growth universe going forward, along with increased volatility. Over the balance of the year, the sub-advisor expects to see stock-specific opportunities emerge and believes the Fund may be positioned for long-term growth.

The sub-advisor is also monitoring several anticipated high-profile initial public offerings (IPOs) this year, including SpaceX, OpenAI and Anthropic. The sub-advisor's expectation is that the initial benchmark weight could be quite small. Any IPO participation decision depends on fundamentals, industry analysis and valuation-based risk-reward.

Potential challenges for equities include worsening consumer sentiment, rising inflation, elevated valuations and ongoing geopolitical tensions. The sub-advisor noted that strong equity returns are rarely realized in a straight line and are often accompanied by high volatility. The sub-advisor believes heightened volatility can bring ongoing risks but could also present attractive opportunities for long-term, fundamental investors.
